Sign Me Up For Georgia Power's "No Surprise" FlatBill® Plan!

☐ YES! I'd like to enroll in Georgia Power's FlatBill payment plan because I don't want any more surprises from my monthly electricity bill. I understand I can withdraw from the FlatBill plan at any time and if I withdraw from the FlatBill program prior to the end of the 12-month contract period, I may be required to pay an additional amount. Specifically, if the amount of electricity I actually used results in a billing amount under the Residential Service rate that is greater than the amount for which I have been billed under the FlatBill program, I must pay that difference.

Please note: sales tax, security lighting and any other products and services will show as additional items on your bill.

FLATBILL® RATE – IMPORTANT TERMS AND CONDITIONS

- By choosing to participate in the FlatBill rate plan, you agree to pay the monthly FlatBill amount for electric service to the designated residence shown on the reverse side for the initial 12-month contract period, beginning with your next monthly electric service bill.

- Subject to other applicable laws and regulations, your participation in the FlatBill rate plan will continue automatically for successive 12-month periods until you withdraw or cease to be eligible for the plan (for example, if your service is cut for non-payment). At the end of each 12-month period, Georgia Power will notify you of the new monthly FlatBill amount for the next 12-month period. At the end of each 12-month period, you may notify Georgia Power of your decision to withdraw from this plan, in which case you will not be required to pay any additional charges in connection with the plan. Unless notified otherwise, Georgia Power will continue to bill you on this plan, but at the new monthly FlatBill amount.

- If, at any time before the end of a 12-month contract period, you cease receiving electric service at the designated residence (for example, you move from the residence or the service to this residence is disconnected), you may be required to pay an additional amount. Specifically, if the amount of electricity you actually used results in a billing amount under the residential rate that is greater than the amount for which you have been billed under the FlatBill program, you must pay that difference, or if you otherwise withdraw or are withdrawn from the FlatBill rate plan, you will be required to pay such additional charges as well.

- You will not receive any refund or credit for amounts paid under the FlatBill rate plan (1) if the amount of electricity actually used during the plan results in a billing amount under the current residential rate plan that is less than the amount for which you have been billed, or (2) for any power outages or other unavailability of service for any reason whatsoever. Customers will not receive any refund or credit for amounts paid under the FlatBill tariff if the amount of electricity actually used results in a billing amount under the "Residential Service" or "General Service" tariff that is less than the amount for which such customers have been billed.

- These FlatBill terms apply only for electric service to the designated account(s) and address. Under no circumstance can FlatBill terms determined on the basis of one residence be transferred to another residence.

- Your FlatBill amount is based on the average electricity usage for the designated service address over the past 12 to 36 months, as adjusted to reflect normal weather conditions and usage growth. The monthly FlatBill amount also includes a charge to cover financial, weather and other risks. The above described adjustments and charges are subject to regulatory limitations, but may otherwise be increased or decreased by Georgia Power for any new contract period. Also, your FlatBill offer does not include sales tax for your specific area, nor does it include Georgia Power security lights, should you have any. Sales tax and security lighting will show as additional items on your bill.

- Georgia Power periodically reviews the routes by which customers' meters are read to ensure they are in line with traffic patterns and efficiency goals. If your neighborhood is reviewed, the date on which your meter is read may change. Should this happen, you may see an adjustment in your FlatBill amount for the next billing period. This adjustment only reflects a change in the number of days in this billing period and you will continue to receive your FlatBill monthly rate after this adjusted billing.

- If your usage as compared to the same month in the previous year, excluding the effects of weather, is 50% greater or more, the Company may return you back to the Residential tariff for the remaining months of your FlatBill contract under the same provisions as if you withdrew from the FlatBill rate plan.

- Georgia Power offers the FlatBill rate plan pursuant to the current residential rate filing, which is on file with the Georgia Public Service Commission.

- Upon request, Georgia Power will provide the following information as proof of enrollment in FlatBill: date of enrollment, channel used to enroll and copies of your FlatBill offer letter and confirmation letter.

Dear [Customer Name]:

Let Budget Bill take the peaks & valleys out of your monthly electric bill!

Take the surprises out of your electric bill! If you're like most Georgia Power customers, your electric use spikes with our hot summers, but our cool winters can cause a jump in your electric usage as well causing your bills to fluctuate throughout the year. Those larger bills during peak weather can be hard on your family's budget. With Georgia Power's Budget Bill plan, you can even out your monthly billing.

With Budget Bill, you remove the fluctuations in your electric bill. This is a FREE service that averages the "peaks" and "valleys" of your electric bill. With Budget Bill, you pay approximately the same amount each month, based on an average of your previous 12 months' electrical usage. So, you pay a similar amount each month, instead of having your electric bill vary with usage each month.

For example, in 2017 [customer name], your highest bill was $[1,000.00] and your lowest was $[10.00]. With Budget Bill, your bill would be approximately $[100.00] each month.

It's easy to enroll!

Simply look at your upcoming Georgia Power bill. You will see a bill message at the bottom that will show your Budget Bill amount.

- To sign up for Budget Bill, just pay the "Budget Bill" amount shown on your next bill and you will be automatically enrolled.

IMPORTANT TERMS AND CONDITIONS

The Budget Bill program allows a residential or non-residential customer to pay his or her Georgia Power bill at a similar amount each month.

Subject to other applicable laws and regulations, your participation in the Budget Bill rate plan will continue automatically until you withdraw or cease to be eligible for the plan.

All residential or non-residential customers with four or less active electric service points who have been billed for twelve months at the location, and have good credit standing with Georgia Power are eligible for Budget Bill, provided their average monthly bill does not exceed $5,000.00. If your Budget Bill account becomes delinquent, Georgia Power has the option of removing you from the Budget Billing plan. If at that time the account has a deferred balance, that balance will become due.

On a Budget Bill account anniversary, the Budget Bill settlement process will determine what to do with any deferred balance. The default action is to rollover any deferred balance into the next plan year. The customer's Budget Bill amount will be increased or decreased by 1/12th of the previous year's deferred balance over the next 12 months.

If you move within Georgia Power's service area, you can transfer any "difference" to your new bill. However, any past due balance must be paid or an agreement made before transferring service. If you are moving outside the Georgia Power service area we will apply any overpayment to your final bill, or add any unpaid final balance to your final bill.
