FERC-61
NARRATIVE DESCRIPTION OF THE SERVICE COMPANY FUNCTIONS
FOR THE PERIOD
Beginning January 1, 2019 and Ending December 31, 2019

Southern Company Services, Inc. hereby submits FERC-61, pursuant to 18 C.F.R. § 366.23(a)(2), for the calendar year 2019 on behalf of its affiliates that do not file an Annual Report on Form 60 identified below.

FERC Form 61—Narrative Description of Specialized Service Company Functions

AGL Services Company

AGL Services Company ("AGSC") provides common services across system companies including support for local operating company gas distribution operations, as well as wholesale and midstream businesses. AGSC provides corporate services including information systems and technology, finance, legal, employee services, real estate and facilities management, supply chain, fleet and executive and provides operations services including gas services, engineering, customer operations, external affairs, marketing, corporate communications and executive.

Southern Communications Services, Inc.

Southern Communications Services, Inc. provides utility-grade mobile radio services utilizing Federal Communications Commission licensed and regulated radio frequencies to the subsidiaries of The Southern Company ("Southern") throughout the public utility service area of the franchised public utility subsidiaries of Southern and incidental service to non-affiliates.

Southern Electric Railroad

Southern Electric Railroad Company was authorized by the Securities and Exchange Commission and the Surface Transportation Board to construct short rail line facilities for the purpose of providing competing access by major carriers to the electric generating plants owned by its affiliate public utilities. It is a Class III railroad subject to regulation by the Surface Transportation Board. Its services include these previously authorized activities.
