STF 2-4 How are broadband transmission costs handled?

Response: Waverly Hall Telephone Company, LLC provides the facilities needed for broadband transmission to the ISP. The ISP is billed monthly, with charges based on the National Exchange Carrier's Association's ("NECA") annual tariff, which is filed with the Federal Communications Commission ("FCC") for the annual July – June tariff period. The revenues are recorded by the telephone company and are directly assigned to the interstate jurisdiction of the telephone company, while the expenses are recorded to the non-regulated ISP.

Respondent: Anissa Hill, Manager of Regulatory Affairs & Compliance, Highline
