Re: Docket No. 44280; Georgia Power Company's Storm Damage Recovery Application

Ms. Tanner:

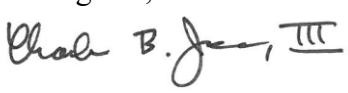

GAM files this letter in support of the Stipulation filed in this docket and in Docket No. 56765 on behalf of GAM, Georgia Power Company and the Commission Public Interest and Advocacy Staff to resolve all issues in both dockets.

The Stipulation represents a reasonable compromise of the positions of the signing parties, achieving a much more substantial reduction to overall customer rates than originally proposed by Georgia Power. The key issue of affordability impacts GAM members as well as all other Company ratepayers. While energy costs will remain a challenge, the Stipulation would move rates in a more affordable direction and provide relief. We therefore support the Stipulation and urge its adoption.

The Stipulation also would benefit other non-signatory interveners by lowering rates for all customers, placing more reasonable limits on the Company's hedging program, and providing a means for parties to address concerns about the fuel credit methodology. As with all stipulations, neither GAM nor any other party would receive everything they asked for – nor would the final order in this case reflect the entirety of a single party's wish list. Thus, despite the likely wishes of some to pick and choose only those provisions of the Stipulation with which they agree, the Commission should adopt the Stipulation in its entirety as a negotiated document that fairly balances the positions of the parties.

GAM thanks the Commission, Staff, the Company and all parties for their participation in this case and in Docket 56765 and again urges the Commission to vote in favor of the Stipulation.

Best regards,

Charles B. Jones, III
