Atlanta, Georgia 30308-3374

COMES NOW the Staff of the Georgia Public Service Commission ("Commission") and, pursuant to the authority vested in it by the Commission pursuant to O.C.G.A. § 46-2-57, herein propounds the following interrogatories and requests for production of documents (collectively, "data requests"), to be answered under oath by designated representatives or agents of Georgia Power Company. Staff requests that a complete set of the responses and supporting documents be filed with the Commission's Executive Secretary in the manner set forth in Utility Rule 515-2-.04(4). Staff requests that an original and five (5) copies be filed with the Executive Secretary of the Commission. Accompanied therewith shall be an electronic version of the filing, which shall be made on a 3 ½ inch diskette or a CD ROM containing an electronic version of its filing in Microsoft Word® for text documents or Excel® for spreadsheets. As contemplated by law, responses to these Data Requests are expected from Georgia Power Company on or before October 19, 2026.

DEFINITIONS

As may be used in this document:

1. "The Company," "Georgia Power" or "The Utility" means Georgia Power Company and its present and former officers, employees, agents, representatives, directors, and all other persons acting or purporting to act on behalf of said Company.

2. The term "you" and "your" refer to "the Company."

3. The term "person" means any natural person, corporation, corporate division, partnership, other unincorporated association, trust, government agency, or entity.

4. The term "document" or "documentation" shall have the broadest possible meaning under applicable law. "Document" or "documentation" means every writing or record of every type and description that is in the possession, custody or control of the Company including, but not limited to, correspondence, memoranda, e-mails, drafts, workpapers, summaries, stenographic or handwritten notes, studies, notices, publications, books, pamphlets, reports, surveys, minutes or statistical compilations, computer and other electronic records or tapes or printouts, including, but not limited to, electronic mail files; and copies of such writing or records containing any commentary or notation whatsoever that does not appear in the original. The term "document" or "documentation" further includes, by way of illustration and not limitation, schedules, progress schedules, time logs, drawings, computer disks, chart projections, time tables, summaries of other documents, minutes, surveys, work sheets, drawings, comparisons, evaluations, laboratory and testing reports, telephone call records, personal diaries, calendars, personal notebooks, personal reading files, transcripts, witness statements and indices.

5. The term "referring or relating to" means consisting of, containing, mentioning, suggesting, reflecting, concerning, regarding, summarizing, analyzing, discussing, involving, dealing with, emanating from, directed at, pertaining to in any way, or in any way logically or factually connected or associated with the matter discussed.

6. "And" and "or" as used herein shall be construed both conjunctively and disjunctively and each shall include the other whenever such construction will serve to bring within the scope of these discovery requests any information that would not otherwise be brought within their scope.

7. The singular as used herein shall include the plural and the masculine gender shall include the feminine and the neuter.

8. "Identify" or "identifying" or "identification" when used in reference to a person other than a natural person means to state: the full name of the person and any names under which it conducts business; the present or last known address of the person; and, the present or last known telephone number of the person.

9. "Identify" or "identifying" or "identification" when used in reference to a document means to provide with respect to each document requested to be identified by these discovery requests a description of the document that is sufficient for purposes of a request to produce or a subpoena duces tecum, including the following:

a) the type of document (e.g., letter, memorandum, etc.);

b) the date of the document; the title or label of the document;

c) the Bates number or other identifier used to number the document for use in litigation; the identity of the originator;

d) the identity of each person to whom it was sent;

e) the identity of each person to whom a copy or copies were sent;

f) a summary of the contents of the document;

g) the name and last known address of each person who presently has possession, custody or control of the document;

h) if any such document was, but is no longer, in your possession, custody or control or is no longer in existence, state whether it: (1) is missing or lost; (2) has been destroyed; or (3) has been transferred voluntarily or involuntarily, and if so, state the circumstances surrounding the authorization for each such disposition and the date of such disposition.

10. "Identify", "identifying" or identity" when used in reference to a communication should be read to include information regarding the date of the communication, whether the communication was written or oral, the identity of all parties and witnesses to the communication, the substance of what was said and/or transpired and, if written, the identity of the document(s) containing or referring to the communication.

INSTRUCTIONS

1. If you contend that any response to any data request may be withheld under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine or any other privilege or basis, please state the following with respect to each such response in order to explain the basis for the claim of privilege and to permit adjudication of the propriety of that claim:
    a. the privilege asserted and its basis.
    b. the nature of the information withheld;
    c. the subject matter of the document, except to the extent that you claim it is privileged.
2. The answers provided should first restate the question asked and also provide the name of the Company employee(s) or agents responsible for compiling and providing the information contained in each answer.
3. These data requests are to be answered with reference to all information in your possession, custody or control or reasonably available to you. These discovery requests are intended to include requests for information, which is physically within your possession, custody or control as well as in the possession, custody or control of your agents, attorneys, or other third parties from which such documents may be obtained.
4. If any data request cannot be responded to or answered in full, answer to the extent possible and specify the reasons for your inability to answer fully.
5. These data requests are continuing in nature and require supplemental responses should information unknown to you at the time you serve your responses to these interrogatories subsequently become known.
6. If you contend that any response to any data request may be withheld under the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine or any other privilege or basis, please state the following with respect to each such response in order to explain the basis for the claim of privilege and to permit adjudication of the propriety of that claim:
    a) the privilege asserted and its basis.
    b) a log should be provided identifying starting and ending bates numbers.
    c) the nature of the information withheld;
    d) the subject matter of the document, except to the extent that you claim it is privileged.
    e) a description of the document to which the privilege applies.

STF-PIA-23-1 Does Georgia Power currently track grid utilization metrics at the transmission, substation, and distribution level? If so, please identify the metrics and provide a brief description of each. If not, what information would be needed to develop such metrics?

STF-PIA-23-2 Does Georgia Power currently calculate an aggregate system utilization figure (energy delivered divided by available capacity) for generation, transmission, and distribution? If so- please provide the details.

STF-PIA-23-3 Given that Georgia Power already maintains a target reserve margin above the industry standard of ~15%, can some of that existing transmission capacity headroom be used more efficiently to serve uncertain large-load growth before additional infrastructure is built, and if so, how much new large-load demand could that reserve margin accommodate before triggering new transmission investment?

STF-PIA-23-4 Is there a feeder- or substation-level constraint report (which parts of the distribution system are already near their limits) that staff could review, similar to a hosting-capacity map?

STF-PIA-23-5 Does the Large Load Economic Development Report show where (which substations or transmission zones) new load is expected to connect, so staff can judge whether it lands in areas with spare capacity?

STF-PIA-23-6 Do any DSM/energy-efficiency programs get credited toward reducing system peak demand in a way that shows up in the reserve margin or IRP planning numbers?

STF-PIA-23-7 How does SAIDI/SAIFI performance get weighed against utilization goals — is there a risk that running assets harder to raise utilization could work against the reliability metrics Georgia Power is already held to?

STF-PIA-23-8 Which department/division team at Georgia Power currently reviews "system utilization" - planning, distribution, engineering, regulatory affairs- or other? What is the Company's current practice of system utilization?

STF-PIA-23-9 Some recent studies show that flexible resources may be good options for large load by the use of existing headroom plus flexible resources plus phased investment and then build permanent infrastructure as load becomes more certain. In other words, build less first and keep options open. For example: use of battery, demand response, flexible interconnection, managed load, and use of grid enhancing technologies. Use these flexible resources until load becomes sufficiently certain to justify the permanent investment. However, they may also require major transmission upgrades because of fundamental thermal or stability constraints. For example, A 100 MW battery cannot simply replace 1000 MW transmission investment. Therefore, when large load project is uncertain or phased, has Georgia Power evaluated flexible interconnection, storage, demand response, managed load, and grid-enhancing technologies etc. as an interim solution to reduce the risk of building infrastructure that could later be underutilized? If yes, please explain the details. If no, please explain why Georgia Power has not evaluated such options.

STF-PIA-23-10 After a non-wires alternative or grid-enhancing technology is approved, how will Georgia Power measure actual performance and determine whether the expected capital cost or reliability benefit was achieved?
